

Call for papers

Deadline for sending communications:
From January 15 to February 29, 2024

The next Spanish Congress of Sociology is coming, in its 15th edition. It will take place from June 26 to 29, 2024 in Seville, organised by the Spanish Federation of Sociology in collaboration with the Department of Sociology of the Pablo de Olavide University, with the theme: #SociologíaParaLaSociedadDigital.

The most important sociology event in Spain

The last conference held in Murcia in 2022 proved to be a great success: more than 1300 registered delegates and 1400 communications, 1800 authors, 45 working groups and 40 programmed events. It was attended by 160 international researchers.

What to expect

- the largest forum in Spain for presenting a wide range of top sociological research,
- diagnosis of contemporary Spanish society and the international context,
- a meeting point for professionals and institutions associated with sociology and similar disciplines to share experiences and improve their work.

The Spanish Federation of Sociology and the congress organisers are making a special effort to internationalise the event, with the following activities:

- More international orientation of some of the plenary events of the congress.
- Instructions in English and the possibility of texts and presentations in English in a number of WGs and sessions.
- A selection of internationally oriented working groups will include in their calls the possibility of organising some online sessions (the WGs management teams will select the communications and organise the sessions that will be held online). These selected working groups are the following:

WG11: Southern European Societies. In collaboration with the ESA Research Network 27 "Southern European Societies" and our colleagues in the Network of Sociological Associations of Southern Europe-RESU.

WG25: Sociology of Migration.

WG32: International Studies, Area Studies and Globalisation.

WG41: Comparative Sociology between Europe and Latin America.

Practical information

On the conference page you can consult the rules of participation, which must be followed by all people who wish to present a paper, either as an extended summary or poster.

You can also consult the list of the congress working groups. Each working group will publish its specific criteria in the call for papers that you can consult in detail.

The deadline for submitting an extended abstract or poster will be open from January 15 to February 29, 2024.

The sending and management of papers will be done only through the application enabled for the congress. This application will be available once the submission period begins. You can find all the details on the conference website.
